

Crisis Intervention Training

The Pima County Attorney's Office Victim Services Division will be conducting training in Crisis Intervention and Victimology. There are two informational sessions held on February 9th and February 18th from 6:00pm-8:00pm at the Tucson Police Substation, located at 1310 W. Miracle Mile.

This well-structured, comprehensive and hands-on training teaches basic crisis intervention skills, concepts and techniques. In addition, it examines various types of crimes and the specific victimization dynamics that victims of the crimes may face, including common trauma reactions. This training is also the gateway into volunteering or participating in an internship with the Victim Services Division.

The official training will be held at the Tucson Police Substation located at 1310 W. Miracle Mile starting March 2, 2015 from 6:00pm-9:00pm every Monday and Wednesday for six weeks. Anyone interested in attending the training or volunteering with the division must come to one of the informational sessions.

If you have any questions, please contact Nicole Hansen at 520-740-5525.

UA Study Abroad Opportunity

GO WILD THIS SUMMER!

UA Study Abroad offers Primate Studies Field School based in Rwanda, one of Central East Africa's most progressive countries and home to a high diversity of monkeys and apes, including the famed mountain gorilla. Students will go on adventure treks to observe gorilla families and golden monkeys on the slopes of the extinct Virunga volcanoes; follow groups of chimpanzees, black and white colobus and guenon monkeys in an afro-alpine jungle; and travel on Safari to watch wildlife and study troops of baboons and vervet monkeys in a savanna setting.

Students will study the dynamics of primate social relationships and their connections to social systems and local ecology. Credit can be taken as either Family Studies and Human Development, Anthropology, or Psychology.

Application Deadline: February 15th (but start the process NOW and talk to your family about it over Winter break)

For more information, visit PrimateFieldSchool.arizona.edu

Networking Opportunity

Whether you're at your desk or at the coffee shop, join us on Wednesday, December 10th at 12:00pm MST to connect with University of Arizona students & alumni from across the country.

At this virtual networking event, you'll be paired with fellow Wildcats for text-based conversations that allow you to make a connection, share your experiences, and build your network.

Students Needed

LDRV 496: Theory and Application of Persuasion, Dr. Baggett, Spring 2015

The Theory and Application of Persuasion is a 3 credit course that teaches the theory and use of persuasion techniques in business, marketing, and the influence of large groups. This course is designed to teach students to apply persuasion techniques commonly found in marketing, politics and business negotiations to real world situations they may encounter. Students will be given written assignments and role play exercises that teach them the use of these persuasion techniques in product sales, job interviews, negotiations and employment applications.

Dr. Mark Baggett is a psychologist with over 21 years of clinical and operational experience. He currently teaches courses in the application of persuasion and negotiation techniques to Department of Defense organizations. Dr. Baggett has a Bachelors Degree in Psychology from the University of California, Santa Cruz. He has a Master's and Doctoral Degrees in Clinical Psychology from Pacific Graduate School of Psychology, California. He completed a Clinical Psychology Internship at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in 1994. Dr. Baggett completed a two year Fellowship in Neuropsychology at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in 2001. Dr. Baggett has served in a number of military assignments overseas as well as assignments in the Special Operations Community. Dr. Baggett is currently serving on active duty in the United States Army and holds the rank of Colonel. His current title in the Army is Operational Psychologist.
