The Margaret M. Briehl and Dennis T. Ray Five Star Faculty Award sponsored by the UA Honors College is the only award for faculty at the University of Arizona that is nominated and selected by undergraduate students. First awarded in 1983, this award was created to recognize excellence in undergraduate teaching. Every student has a voice in who wins this award, meaning that if you feel that a professor has contributed significantly to your education, you can nominate them as a Five Star Faculty Award winner.

Five Star Faculty Award Committee Seeking Student Members!

Hi, everyone! I’m pleased to announce that I have been selected as the University of Arizona South’s very first Faculty Fellow! I wanted to take some time to introduce myself, explain what the Faculty Fellow does, and provide you with some avenues for getting in contact with me and taking advantage of what the Faculty Fellow can offer.

First, let me introduce myself. I’m an Assistant Professor in the Educational Technology program where I teach topics like human-computer interaction, game design, integrating technology into the curriculum, and advanced multimedia. My research mainly revolves around how technology and design mediate our experience of and in the world and how that changes based on our relative distance from it, whether as a separate construct or if we fuse with it. (All that’s a fancy way of saying I like to study video games and their role in our society.)

I will be available to student and staff attendees to this event as the Faculty Fellow. I will be overseeing the implementation of the Student Services Office Hours that are listed above. I will be available to answer questions about any and all student services and will be happy to help you navigate the complex world of higher education.

I hope to see you all there!

a committee of students meets to create advertising to encourage students to nominate their favorite professor. The student committee then reviews those nominations, selects a top five, and takes part in interviews and/or class visits with the final five professors to decide who will receive this year’s Five Star Faculty Award. The four runner-ups selected by the student committee each receive a prize of $250. The selected winner of the award will receive a prize of $1,000, a surprise class visit from the student committee, and will be recognized at the annual UA Awards of Excellence Ceremony held in March. The student committee typically meets on campus about once a month up until the Awards of Excellence Ceremony in March. Food is always provided at meetings.

If you are interested in becoming a part of the student committee and helping to select a winner of this year’s prestigious Five Star Faculty Award, please fill out this short Google Form so we can contact you to coordinate our first meeting in October.

Graduate Opportunities

Graduate or Professional Student from UA South on our Council

In order for GPSC to better serve the graduate student community, it is important that we have representation from the different groups/colleges across all our campuses. I hope you can pass this information along to student at UA South who may be interested.

In order to be appointed a GPSC representative, each candidate must submit the petition, along with 10 signatures from members of their constituency. That includes any graduate or professional student from UA South.
