Helpful Hint

If you're getting bored with your daily routine, change things up! Instead of spending the day on the couch, get out and volunteer for a cause you care about, or try something new like an art class or a new sport. Who knows - you just might find your new favorite hobby!

Education and Civic Engagement Study

Help us learn about your educational experiences and how you view society and civic engagement today.

What:
Online surveys, about 20 minutes each. Some participants may also be invited to take part in a focus group.

When:
Fall 2018
Spring 2019

You can enter a drawing for Beats headphones or a $25 Amazon gift card for each survey. Participation in the research study is not required. Only one entry per person per survey. Participation is void where prohibited by law.

2018 Summer Workshop Series

Reading Globally: Critical Issues in Global Literature for Children and Adolescents, June 25-27, 2018

We live in a world where our lives are interconnected in complex ways across global cultures as well as fractured with tensions that divide us. Global children's literature provides one means of facilitating intercultural understanding, but issues of availability, access, authenticity, and classroom use must be addressed for this potential to be realized. In this institute, participants will explore current trends in global literature for children and adolescents, examine critical issues and approaches to analyzing these books, and experience strategies for critically engaging with global literature. Participants will use the Worlds of Words collection (http://wowlit.org) to be immersed in a wealth of global literature as well as to delve deeply into key books to develop critical understandings and to consider how to invite students into a critical reading of the word. An additional component will be interactions that pair classic, well known texts often used in elementary and secondary classrooms with global children's and adolescent literature to expand the curriculum and include global perspectives.
