Homecoming is a wonderful opportunity to visit the Tucson campus and meet your fellow Arizona Wildcats. Stop by the Arizona Online tent during the UA Homecoming Tents on the Mall and enjoy a frozen treat from Eegee’s. Stop by to mix and mingle with your fellow colleagues, between 4 p.m. - 6 p.m.

It is still not too late to win a pair of tickets to the football game on the UA Online Student Facebook Group. All winners will also be entered to win a pair of tickets to the Arizona IMG Sports Marketing Tailgate including meals and beverages. We look forward to seeing you at Homecoming.

Helpful Hint
Form a study group! If your note taking skills really are subpar, it's a great idea to partner up with a classmate who has got this skill down. In exchange, offer to help transfer his or her notes to flash cards or to take on another part of a group project. Study groups can also help you study more efficiently-dividing and conquering a chapter outline, for example, can help all of you prepare.

UA South Math & Science Field trip to Ramsey Canyon

October 22, 2018
Ada Parra's Elementary Education Math & Science Methods Students

The elementary education math and science methods students have been learning about a variety of engaging instructional approaches for teaching math and science and exploring educational resources in their local communities. They recently visited the Ramsey Canyon Nature Conservancy to learn about this area and to inform themselves about educational opportunities for their future students. After the field trip, students wrote a persuasive letter to a hypothetical school principal asking permission to visit an educational site in their local community. The letter included math and science learning objectives as well as reading and language arts content area integration. These UA South pre-service teachers are looking forward to providing their future elementary school students with fun and engaging learning experiences!
