BA History

History
History majors at the University of Arizona South explore patterns and processes of change and continuity, around the world and across time, in an effort to demonstrate how diverse societies and cultures have confronted challenges common to the human experience. The program provides practical training in historical research and promotes skills in writing and critical analysis that are the foundation of contemporary liberal arts education. History majors enter all walks of life, many choosing careers that include law, teaching, journalism, government and non-profit organizations. History is offered in the following locations: Sierra Vista, Pima County.

Why Study History?
Our field of study has been one of the core arts and sciences since the founding of North American universities, yet we also are in the vanguard of contemporary interdisciplinary scholarship—scholarship that cuts across conventional intellectual boundaries and promotes fresh, innovative ways of looking at the world. Students everywhere are recognizing that History prepares them for almost any academic or professional endeavor they can imagine.

What are the Requirements to Enter the Program?

Because this is a transfer degree program, there are specific entrance requirements you must meet prior to admission to the program:

- Completion of 60 or more transferable credits from a regionally accredited institution including:
- Completion of lower division major and minor requirements and any prerequisite classes
- A minimum 2.0 GPA in your transferable coursework

Please contact us if you have any questions about admission and/or to receive a pre-evaluation of your previously taken coursework to ensure your eligibility and readiness for the program. Visit uas.arizona.edu/admissions for more info.

“I enjoy the community and people of UA South. At the UA South, there are people who are willing to help all students. It is also a great place to get encouragement and opportunities. The faculty and staff are great individuals who want to be sure a student succeeds. I also appreciate the fact that the environment is created for non-traditional students.” – Josette Lopez
